UNIVERSITIES IN GERMANY

I am currently in my second month in university and I must admit sometimes it can be very overwhelming and challenging. Nevertheless, this one whole year of learning German, meeting new people from all around the world and now studying in one of the most prestigious universities in Germany have been nothing short of life-changing and eye-opening.

Lee Ming Cheng (A Level Class of 2017)

RWTH Aachen, pursuing B. Sc. Computer Science

Looking for just a German course I've received instead much more from German Educare, such as help with the university application process and even the arrangement of accommodation during my stay in Germany while I continued with my German lessons. Being in Germany has helped me step out of my comfort zone, cultivate independence and make many new friends.

Trisha Yow (A Level Class of 2017)

HS Birkenfeld, pursuing B. Sc. Renewable Energies

Living here has truly been an eye-opening experience, and I've learned so much from it. From managing my finances to making sure I do my grocery shopping before all the stores close on Sunday. But that only scratches the surface of it all; you learn things that simply cannot be taught, and you do make some incredible memories along the way!

Vanessa Dass (A Level Class of 2017)

Philipps University of Marburg, pursuing B. Sc. Business Mathematics

Up to this point in my life in Germany, I have to say that the quote, "the grass is greener on the other side" really applies to my experience. So far, I've been having a very good time here. Life is less stressful and no doubt you get to experience more new things. Living on your own is a great advantage as well because you will learn to get things done for yourself and it changes how you are as a person.

Chloe Chiew (A Level Class of 2017)

Hochschule Biberach, pursuing Bachelor of Pharmaceutical Biotechnology
